Here we have a very scruffy me introducing some footage of our latest Combat! adventure. We finally hit each other, too!... Correction, Chameleon hit me... twice.

Our trucker friend Chameleon came into town and although very cold and windy that day, we tried some combat flying, the student and the master... or the cat and the mouse, whichever you prefer.

At the end of the video, Chameleon introduces 'Cool Hand Luke', a combat variant that is meant for a more gentle gliding than true combat, an active rudder and curved wing allows it to float up into the air with ease.
